

FIREMEN FILE MILLION DOLLAR SLANDER SUIT

Four Daly City firemen who lost their jobs in the Lagomarsino warehouse arson case have filed a million-dollar damage suit against the two civilians who assertedly put the finger on them.

The firemen, Harvey Cross, George Bullwinkel, Robert Malcolm and James Dresser, charge they were libeled and slandered by Richard G. Hamilton and John J. Grizzel.

Thomas L. Bocci, attorney for the firemen, said "I am satisfied the four Daly City firemen were unjustly accused."

Bocci has filed a denial of the charges with the city clerk of Daly City, with a request for a hearing before the Daly City personnel board.

He said many citizens have volunteered their services circulating petitions on behalf of the firemen. And, he stated, one thousand signatures have been obtained asking for their reinstatement pending hearings.

Fireman Harvey Cross has been with the fire department eight and one half years. Robert Malcolm and James Dresser have each been with the department two and one half years. Fireman George Bullwinkel has been with the department for three months.

"Notwithstanding any other statements to the contrary," Bocci said, "The lie detector tests taken voluntarily proved negative and inconclusive. As far as we are concerned, these tests completely exonerated my clients of any complicity in the matter."

Further Suits
"We promise further civil lawsuits for any loose talk or accusation against my clients regarding this matter."

Bocci said he has received a number of telephone calls from Daly City housewives volunteering to circulate petitions demanding the reinstatement of the firemen. In the suit, each of the firemen asks $250,000 damages from Hamilton and Grizzel.

The complaint alleges that the defendants made "false, libelous and slanderous" statements to authorities and others that caused them "humiliation, anguish, indignity and mental suffering."

False Statements
The April 6 fire at the Lagomarsino warehouse, the suit states, was "caused to be set by persons unknown to the plaintiffs."

The complaint notes that the arson defendants told authorities that the firemen siphoned a gallon of gasoline from the fire department pickup truck for use to start the fire and that one of the firemen stated that "more fires were necessary to justify the employment of additional firemen and that certain buildings were excellent subjects for an experiment, the purpose of which would be the burning of said building so as to point out the need for the hiring of additional firemen."

Home Improvement Week Set April 25

The fourth annual Home Improvement Week will be staged in Daly City beginning April 25 to run through May 2.

Endorsed by the city administration and the Daly City Chamber of Commerce, the week-long event urges merchants and citizens throughout the community to fix-up and paint-up their homes and places of business.

The campaign is scheduled to tie-in with National Do-It-Yourself Week and National Home Improvement Month in May.

On Wednesday, April 25, Marchbanks Publications will issue a special tabloid section featuring hundreds of ideas on how local residents can go about sprucing up their shops and homes for the benefit and morale of the entire city.

The section also will contain pictures and news stories covering all phases and new developments of the home improvement industry.

Special merchandise to be offered by local merchants will also be featured.

The week is sponsored annually by the publishing firm in behalf of civic betterment.

LIE DETECTOR test was undergone by four Daly City firemen suspended April 8 after allegedly conspiring to start a fire in Lagomarsino warehouse. Suspended fireman George Bullwinkel, 22, (left) awaits testing as Daly City police Sgt. Charles Terry stands by.

EASTER EGG HUNT—Daly City children eight years old or under will be scampering furiously about in a frantic search for eggs April 21. The annual Easter Egg Hunt, co-sponsored by the Jefferson Elementary School District, James Snell PTA and the Hi Fi Teen Club, will be held at Colma School, Garden Village School, Marchbanks Park, Westlake Park and Westmoor High School. This is a typical scene of a hunt last year.

Arson Charges Sought Against Four Firemen

The finger of the law will apparently touch all the Daly City firemen involved in the April 6 arson fiasco at the Lagomarsino warehouse.

None of the six men involved were cleared in lie detector tests taken last week in San Francisco. None have admitted guilt. All four firemen have been dismissed from their jobs by the city manager.

Daly City police said that warrants will be sought for the arrest of fire Captain Harvey Cross of Firehouse No. 2, hoseman Robert Malcolm, 30, of 498 Evergreen avenue and George Bullwinkel, 22, of 352 Winchester street. Arraigned last week in municipal court, South San Francisco, were John J. Grizzel, 26; Richard G. Hamilton, 23, and fireman James Dresser, 29, of 83 Carmel Avenue.

These three men were charged with going to the warehouse to start the fire "in order to get more firemen on the roster."

Conspiracy charges against John J. Grizzel, 26, and Richard Hamilton, 23, in the Daly City arson case were dropped this week. They were cleared after testifying before the grand jury April 16.

Grizzel and Hamilton were allegedly invited over to Firehouse 2 by the accused firemen the night of April 6. The men assertedly were drinking and playing cards. They reportedly decided to start a fire to point up the need for extra firemen, police said.

Grizzel and Hamilton were caught at the scene by Hansen and Inspector James Berg-

MURDER VICTIM IS IDENTIFIED

San Francisco and Peninsula police announced they had learned both the identity of last week's tattooed murder victim and the name of his suspected "executioner." The dead man was William Arthur Rogers III, a 19-year-old itinerant from Nashville, Tenn.

His suspected killer was Raymond Wilbur Gustin, 30, who vanished last Thursday from an apartment at 57 Taylor street, San Francisco, leaving behind a scribbled message reading:

"Infamous for Execution: Just before he expired, he uttered the most famous words."

Police said they did not know exactly what Gustin was trying to convey when he wrote his note. The body of young Rogers, who was stabbed, strangled and drowned, was found last Saturday in a small lake near Pacifica.

Though the tips of all ten fingers had been sliced off, deputy coroner Joseph McPheeters of San Mateo County said he was able to get satisfactory palm prints from the corpse.

1 KILLED IN GANG VIOLENCE AT BEACH

Gang violence broke out Tuesday night, April 17 at Thornton Beach, leaving one gang member killed and two others wounded.

Killed was William Pierson Lopes, 26, a bodyguard to officers of the Untouchables, a gang that headquarters in the pinball joints near 7th and Market streets.

He was shot in the chest at close range by a shotgun blast, then stumbled to his car and drove three quarters of a mile.

Bleeding profusely, he drove along Alemany, sheered through a telephone pole and into a service station at the intersection of Lake Merced boulevard. He stepped from his car and dropped dead.

The fight apparently started over a minor argument over a girl between Gebhardt and the three Delphino brothers.

Three Delphino brothers, Larry, 21, Barry, 19, and Richard, 15, of 348 Chester street, Daly City, were taken into custody Wednesday night on a charge of murder.

Their friend, Robert Gomez, 18, of 354 Chester street, was also arrested on a murder charge.

According to police, the following gang members were injured:

Ronald August Beghardt, 19, of 1999 Madrid street, San Francisco, known as "Chico" and a vice president of the Untouchables, was hit over the head with the stock of a rifle.

Robert L. Bills, 19, of 471 Southgate, Daly City, nicked in the back with a shotgun pellet.

Harry Apodaco, 18, of 20 Mar Vista drive, Daly City, wounded in the back and taken to Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Francisco.

Blazes Keep Firemen Busy

Daly City Firemen kept busy as two serious blazes struck homes on Saturday and Sunday, April 14 and 15, causing property damage in excess of $4,000 each.

The first fire occurred at 1:31 a.m. at 130 Wilson street, San Francisco. Daly City alarm boxes 16 and 17 were pulled and the department extinguished the fire with two high pressure lines.

Firemen Injured
The fire started in the downstairs apartment from an unknown origin and caused $4,500 damage to the structure and $3,000 to the contents. Battalion Chief Wayne Alexander fell down the front stairs and received back injuries. Fireman Dale Cheli was knocked down by a fire truck and received minor leg injuries.

A family was left without clothes following a fire at 2:28 p.m. Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Millard Jordan of 18 San Joaquin avenue.

The fire was confined to the rear children's bed room and spread to clothing and furniture. Insurance on the contents had expired and the Hobb's family was assisted by the Red Cross Chapter. Mrs. Jordan received second degree burns to her left foot and was taken to the Junipero Serra Hospital following emergency treatment at the fire scene.

Winners Thank Voters For Vote Of Confidence

Edward J. Dennis, Robert St. Clair and Michael DeBernardi today thanked the voters of Daly City for their vote of confidence at the polls.

"We feel Daly City has a great future," Dennis said. "We have run a clean campaign, and feel this is the type of government the people want, a government conducted like a business."

"We will endeavor to have a close alliance with the county and bring county services into Daly City. We intend to live up to our platform."

Robert St. Clair added: "I am very appreciative of the vote of confidence the voters showed at the polls, not only for me but for the other two councilmen. It shows that the people were not taken in by all the false statements made in the campaign, and that they evaluated the facts and looked around and saw all the capital improvements and general

Girl Rescued By Schoolteacher In Beach Save

A pretty Capuchino High School girl was saved from wind whipped waves a quarter mile offshore from Rockaway Beach Saturday, April 14, by a 56-year-old San Francisco teacher.

Kingsley G. Moore, a Latin teacher at Town School for Boys, swam in the chill ocean for almost half an hour to reach Sheryn Gotelli, 15, of 716 Sycamore avenue, San Bruno. He held the girl above the waves a quarter mile offshore until a Coast Guard helicopter lifted them to safety.

"He was wonderful!" Sheryn said later. "He kept telling jokes to keep up my courage."

The incident occurred when Sheryn, who was wading, was swept out to sea by the current off Rockaway Beach. The girl screamed for help and Sergeant George Herr, a Marine stationed at Treasure Island, tried unsuccessfully to swim through the heavy surf to her. Moore ran to a lifesaving station, then ran down the beach to a point where he calculated the current would take him to the drowning girl.

The teacher and the girl floated on the water for about 15 minutes before a helicopter arrived and carried them to shore. Both were taken to Peninsula Hospital in Burlingame, treated and released.

The Jefferson Union High School District board of trustees at the April 9 meeting:

1) Adopted the same salary schedule for teachers as last year. The schedule calls for a fully certificated teacher to start at $5700 with 12 salary increments to $9900.

2) Noted a report that the Jefferson High gymnasium is nearing completion and should be completed in about 6 weeks. The first function will be graduation ceremonies for the senior class.

Superintendent Edward Morgan reported the new Jefferson football field and track is being filled in with proper topsoil. Basic aspects of an automatic sprinkling system will be installed.

Final inspection has been made of Oceana High School and notice of completion will be submitted to the district board for approval on April 23, Morgan stated.

DANGER AREA—A warning for youths to stay away from construction area behind Jefferson High School has been issued by District Supt. Edward hazard for youngsters. "We're afraid some youngster or adult might fall in and get hurt," Morgan said. The campus area will be torn up for four or five months, he stated.

Investigating famous personalities in the field of space travel. The boys and girls sent letters to Cape Canaveral offering congratulations to those involved in our nation's recent achievements in this field and were very pleased to receive a prompt reply from these men.

Alan Shepard told the children in his letter that "... my early school work has been a great help to me. I hope you all study now, because we will need your help in the years to come." These personal messages added to the boys' and girls' interest and enthusiasm in investigating this fascinating and important unit of work.

One Killed

Police gave this account of the fight:

A small party of the Untouchables was at the beach when the three Delphinos arrived. A fight started between Barry Delfino and Gebhardt and Barry was killed in the forehead. The Delfino brothers then left the beach area, returning later with 15 to 20 other boys and began firing shotguns at the gang on the beach.

A group, including Gebhardt, started up the hill and Gebhardt was knocked unconscious when a shotgun was broken over his head. Lopez, assigned to guard Gebhardt, ran up the hill and caught up with Ronald Sears, 18, of 169 East Vista and tore his gun away from him. Lopez then walked along the upper beach area and met up with the Delfino gang. He was shot near a bridge path at the parking lot area.

"We will endeavor in the coming term to do everything in our power to work more closely with the Jefferson Elementary School District as we have worked jointly with the Jefferson High School District.

"And the people," St. Clair stated, "can rest assured that we can continue to keep the City of Daly City at its high moral, cultural and financial standing."

MICHAEL DEBERNARDI stated "We hope to continue with all the vigorous programs we have started with in Daly City."

"We'll continue on a pay as you go basis in city government. In this coming budget there should be no increase in taxes for Daly City. I don't look for any tax raise."

R. A. Vincillone In Assembly Race

Raoul A. "Vince" Vincillone, Republican candidate for the newly designated 27th Assembly District, opened campaign headquarters at 121 Hickey Boulevard in South San Francisco.

In his opening statement at campaign headquarters Vincillone said, "he recommends a close study of California's fiscal policy and possibly its complete re-organization in order to produce tax cuts; a gain of greater value for the dollar spent and a reduction in California's deficit."

Although Vincillone has never before run for public office, he has long been active in civic and political affairs. He is a past member of the Republican State Central Committee, and for the past decade has served on the governor's Industrial Safety Commission.

SSFHS CAREER DAY

South San Francisco high school recently hosted a Career Day with 57 guest speakers. The Career Day, held on April 11, was arranged and coordinated by Mrs. Donald Kistner, a teacher and counselor at SSFHS.

"I wish more high schools would adopt this system and give our fine young people a greater opportunity to hear of the occupation they wish to enter," said Dr. George Steiner of San Francisco State speaking on television and radio.

Indians named the area now known as Death Valley "Land of Fire" and shunned it.

Boys' Club Volunteers Help Build "Juvenile Decency"

Today, when many people solve problems simply by avoiding them, a progress report by the Boys' Clubs of America offers vivid proof of how responsible adult leadership can help halt juvenile delinquency.

In its annual "Juvenile Delinquency" review, the national youth-guidance organization reveals how 80,000 men and women helped more than 600,000 delinquent boys and girls. Boys' Clubs in 400 cities and towns throughout the country. This represents a new peak in the number of Clubs in operation and the number of members being served.

These volunteers, who serve in an almost infinite variety of ways, are vital to the success of the Boys' Clubs movement. Each Boys' Club is staffed by full-time, paid, professional youth workers. But, the volunteers, who serve as club presidents and board members and to help by donating time, talent and energy to administration, fund-raising, service as Club presidents and board members and to teaching everything from marbles to music. The success of this cooperation has brought the Boys' Clubs of America wide recognition as one of the nation's fastest-growing and most effective youth organizations. Each Club is the product of the city, or town in which it is located. Locally built, locally supported through United Fund, Community Chest and service, civic, fraternal, labor and other groups, the Boys' Clubs are a proven antidote to juvenile delinquency.

National leadership for the organization is provided by former president, Herbert Hoover, who for 26 years has very actively served as its board chairman. Mr. Hoover, who says the Boys' Clubs are "after the home, church and school, the greatest character-building institutions in our country today," has gathered more than 100 nationally prominent men to work with him in expanding the organization. Working directly under Mr.

Hoover is A. L. Cole, president of the Boys' Clubs and general manager of the Reader's Digest, whose dynamic leadership has played a major role in the movement's growth and development.

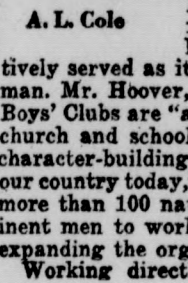

John M. Gleason, an internationally known authority on youth problems, serves as national director and heads a professional staff with headquarters in New York City and seven regional offices.

Under the guidance of these men, and many thousands more, the Boys' Clubs organization has blended grass roots citizens, capital, labor and opposing political parties into a highly effective youth-guidance organization.

Its immediate goal — establishment of 1,000 Boys' Clubs, serving one million deserving youngsters. Committed to a continuation of its policy of solving the problem of juvenile delinquency, rather than avoiding it, it's safe to report that goal should soon be attained.

HEAT CAN BE REDUCED

Nearly every car owner knows that it is heat that destroys his tires, the heat induced by friction.

One way to reduce the amount of heat, according to the National Automobile Club, is to keep the tire properly inflated. The rise in temperature owing to constant flexing of the walls thus is eliminated.

WHAT'S DOING

T. P. Coyne, your Telephone Manager in Daly City

America's first space-age world's fair opens this month in Seattle, Washington. Its theme is Century 21, an exciting look at the year 2000 against a background of our present space accomplishments.

Tying in with this theme at the fair is the Bell Telephone System's "Space Communications Spectacular." It shows many Bell System space projects, including the proposed satellite communications system. It also features up-to-the-minute developments in home and business telephones.

If you plan to visit Seattle's Century 21 Exposition, we hope you'll stop in at the Bell System's exhibit building for a very interesting look at what's new for you in telephone service.

Good housekeeping is just as important to telephone people as it is to the tidiest housewife. Perhaps even more so. And this air pistol is one way we attack our house-cleaning job.

You see, even tiny specks of dust in telephone equipment could interfere with good service. By using compressed air to blow dust away, we're able to do a really thorough job fast and cut cleaning costs. By practicing economy with good housekeeping, we can maintain good service and give you the most for your telephone dollar.

"Money at work means men at work" is the slogan of Invest-in-America Week, April 29 to May 5. Now investing in America may seem like a big order. But actually it's a matter of looking at it the way the Invest-in-America Council does. They say: "Thanks to the money you put into savings accounts, insurance policies, a home, bonds and stocks, your savings are working to expand industry, make new jobs, and help you enjoy the better things of life."

Here and There --

Back To Normal

The city election is over — the incumbents are still in the saddle (they were not even shaken or bounced) and Daly City proceeds on an uninterrupted policy of progress for at least another two years. Progress has been the keynote of the city council for quite some time and the majority of the electorate heartily endorsed this theme.

Now that the heat of the election has passed, and the civic thermometer registers approximately the same degree as the weatherman's temperature chart shows — spring balminess — it is time to look forward to and make plans for the continued improvement of our city.

Members of the city council, individually and collectively, have expressed the desire to have Daly City become one of the finest cities in Northern California. They are actively working toward that goal and have shown no signs of letting down in their concerted efforts for a better city — a better city to live in, work in and be a part of.

However, they can't do it alone. They will need the help of every citizen — all the time, not just part of the time — to make this one of the finest cities in this state, or any other state for that matter, in which to live.

Fifty-Five Million Can't Be Wrong

There's no question about it now — on its 85th anniversary — there's nothing like a bike!

Bicycles are for the young — and for those who stay young. And this May, America's traditional "Bike Month," the two-wheelers will hit an all-time high in their four-score years of unchallenged popularity with 55 million of the chain-and-sprocket set in the saddle across the nation!

History has been made since the first bike was turned out in Hartford, Conn., in 1877. The pneumatic tire was invented, then ball-bearings. The automobile came along, and received considerable impetus from a couple of bicycle-fanciers, Henry Ford and R. E. Olds. After a great while, a couple of bicycle repair men, Wilbur and Orville Wright, built the first airplane that would fly.

"Bloomers" were invented for the benefit of the bicycle — which led to the discovery that girls had legs. Thus you may blame the bicycle (if you wish) for the fact that these are currently displayed in culottes, treader pants, pedal-pushers and shorts.

Bicycles are useful, too — for fun, for physical fitness and for rock-bottom, economical transportation. Bicycles are still launching business careers — just as they did a couple of generations ago — on newspaper routes and delivery jobs of all sorts. They take pounds off — or put them on where needed by promoting appetite and glowing health. And we've heard they do things for figure control. Outside of the old Six-Day Races, nobody ever rode a bike without getting lots of fresh air.

As Good A Time As Any

This week is as good a time as any to quote from a recent commentary of News Editor Bob Wilson of the Brady (Texas) Standard:

"From time to time," he writes, "this newspaper receives 'releases' from various Federal agencies telling us that assorted members of our community have violated some Government regulation."

"The regulation, of course, doesn't amount to a hill of beans, but the defendants are hauled off to the nearest Federal court where they quickly plead guilty and pay outrageous fines — on the theory that 'you can't beat Uncle Sam'."

"We don't print these releases," Mr. Wilson emphasizes in bold face. "To hear the bureaucrats tell it, these men are criminals. We know they are no such thing."

"In sending us this 'news,' these bureaucrats are not extending a simple courtesy to this newspaper. They have an axe to grind. They hope we will print the story to serve as a warning to others: 'The boogie-man will get you if you don't watch out!'"

Editor Wilson goes on to cite some examples of attempted (and all too often successful) intimidation-by-regulation and stresses the fact that the victims were not accused of violating "some law which was enacted by the duly elected representatives of the people," but a ruling "designed by

COUNTY DOINGS

County government department heads have submitted budget requests for the 1962-63 fiscal year totaling $42,582,160, more than $7,400,000 over the current budget allowance.

However, county manager E. R. Stallings, predicted the figure will be cut substantially and the final adopted budget can be financed without an increase in the basic county tax rate.

He said there is even a possibility of a slight decrease in the tax rate.

The new federal program for the aged, which was approved last year by the state legislature, will add $2,863,250 to the county budget.

Only one-fourth of the total is paid with county tax funds (the remainder is state and federal money).

The total proposed expenditure in county welfare programs, not including the cost of administration of the county health and welfare department, exceeds $13,000,000.

The proposed budget figure of $42,582,160 includes $14,649,416 for salaries and wages, $21,635,326 for maintenance and operation, $6,157,505 for capital outlay, $280,356 for bond interest and debt redemption and $860,000 for reserve funds.

A total of $2,717,000 is included for capital projects, the largest of which is $1,100,000 for the new administration building in Redwood City.

Other capital projects items include $40,000 for a judicial and health center in Half Moon Bay, $59,000 for planning the addition to Community Hospital, $110,000 for a new school in San Bruno for mentally retarded children, and $168,000 for various library projects.

FIRE FACTS

This article is written by the Daly City Firemen and is published in this paper for the purpose of keeping the public informed about their Fire Department, its duties and associated activities:

A Busy Time
This last weekend has been a very busy one for your local fire service. We responded to 11 calls from 3:50 p.m. Saturday until 8:16 p.m. Sunday. Two of these were structure fires with property damage in excess of $4,000 each and contents loss of both fires in excess of $5,000.

The first fire occurred at 1:31 a.m. at 130 Wilson Street San Francisco. Our fire alarm boxes 16 and 17 were pulled and this department responded and extinguished the fire with two high pressure lines. Engine 2, a new apparatus placed in service two years ago has a high pressure pump which pumps water in excess of 800 P.S.I. causing a fog storm which turns to steam on contact with heat and flame.

Heat from the fire is absorbed by the fog, cooling the building and cutting of the oxygen from the fire. This operation is done with a very small amount of water, thus cutting down the water damage and making the overhaul of the fire easier.

Firemen Injured
The fire started in the downstairs apartment of unknown origin and caused $4,500 damage to the structure and $3,000 damage to the contents. Battalion Chief Alexander fell down the front stairs and received injuries to his back. Fireman Dale Cheli was knocked down by a fire truck and received minor injuries to his leg.

During this fire another emergency call was received from

It's News To Vets

Q—I am a World War II veteran planning to convert my GI term insurance policy to a permanent plan. May I convert as little as $500 at a time?

A—No. The Veterans Administration does not issue new policies for less than $1,000, and your partial conversion requires a new policy to be issued each time you convert part of your present term policy. However, you may convert in multiples of $500 above $1,000, as $1,500, $2,500, etc.

Q—Does the VA provide transportation to its domicilaries at Government expense, when a veteran becomes a resident of one of these homes?

A—As a rule, transportation to a domiciliary at Government expense is provided only for the initial admission of the veteran.

Q—I am interested in converting my GI term insurance to some form of permanent plan insurance. What choice do I have?

A—You may convert to ordinary life, 20-payment life, 30-payment life, 20-year endowment, endowment at age 60, or endowment at age 65.

petty, pinhead tyrants who think they can run this man's business better than he can run it himself.

"There is hardly a businessman or private citizen in Brady or elsewhere who isn't continually hounded by some Government agent wanting to look at the books, telling him how to run his own affairs, and trying to collect taxes.

"And the more regulations, agents and auditors you have," Wilson concludes, "the more taxes they are going to want."

The View From ..Behind The Badge

Written and Edited by Daly City Police Department

City Employees

Policemen usually liken themselves to other policemen in other jurisdictions. They feel they have a common bond with the other officers. The uniforms and cities may be different, but for the most part the problems are the same.

On a second level, the policemen feel a common bond with firemen of their city. This is because both organizations make up what might be called the "safety services." Because they are members of the uniformed, safety services, they have interests and problems in common which are second only to those things shared by other policemen in other cities.

Thirdly, outside of the scope of brother policemen, and away from the bond of the safety services, there is that bond shared by all city employees. All those who work for the same employer, in this case the city, share a number of things. They share pride in their city, complaints about pay rates, vested interests in retirement systems, and a common remorse when a fellow employee disgraces the classified service.

Policemen are not cowards. They do not function like the warship Marine guards, or like the Army military police. Briefly, they do not have the mission of enforcing regulations in other city departments. They have all they can do to enforce their own regulations within their own department. The job of the police is to enforce the criminal law wherever such enforcement is needed.

Sometimes it is necessary to enforce these laws among these people with whom the officer has close bonds. Occasionally a brother officer must be arrested, and we have done that. Once in awhile a fireman has to be incarcerated; we have done that. It has happened that now and again a miscellaneous city employee bends a law, and must be taken into custody — and we have done that, too.

Most times it is not especially pleasant for the officer to effect an arrest. There are exceptions, of course — it is a distinct pleasure to arrest the perpetrators of some crimes; but usually, it is not a pleasure for the policeman to arrest anyone. However, there are some arrests which are more unpleasant than others, and these include those arrests of friends in the municipal family — the first, second, and third cousins described above.

The officer has two choices in these cases—he can arrest the wrongdoer or he can look the other way. If he looks the other way, he loses self respect and prestige, and is a traitor to his calling. If he makes the arrest, he probably ruins a career, cuts off the money necessary to support a family, and injures a breadwinner in the eyes of his family. He causes the arrested person to be held in public ridicule, much more so, usually, than the arrest of an ordinary citizen would; let's face it, public servants are fair game for the news media, mainly because the public likes to read about them.

When the officer makes the right choice, he finds that it almost isn't worth it. During the investigation, he has occasion to interrogate men who parry his questions, hoping to salvage something of what up to this time has been a career.

The officer reads in a newspaper a question as to why the police were in a certain place at just that particular time—and somehow it sounds dirty, as though unfair practices were used by the police. It seems immodest, somehow, to point out to anyone that the only practice employed by the officers was that of old-fashioned good police work.

And what else does the officer run into? He finds outright dislike and vindictiveness among some city employees. The fact that these are in the small minority does not lessen the sting of the impact. These few employees view the officers with suspicion, as though they had contrived the very circumstances surrounding the arrest. It seems not to have occurred to the dissenters that the culprit himself has put himself in the situation which necessitated that he be arrested.

Part of the ordeal is to observe the necessary questioning of the suspect by the department head. This is necessary where departmental regulations, as well as criminal laws, are involved. The disgraced man faces his department head. The department head is a gray haired veteran with grief in his eyes, and in his demeanor anger and compassion mingle, as he struggles to understand how his man came to betray a trust.

All of these things are sad, and not the least is the fact that the officer may have personally known the man whom he arrested. They may have howled together, or their wives may be friends—and there is little doubt but that the heartbreak will extend to these areas of activity.

And so there is sorrow and some anger in one home. In the department head's home there is sleeplessness. The policeman, in his home, does a little soul searching.

But the answers are the same in each home. The government employee cannot betray his trust. The department head is obligated to wash his own dirty linen, and whitewash would never be an adequate detergent. And the policeman knows that, no matter how lonely is the post he walks, he is accompanied by God; therefore, someone would know, and disapprove, if the officer "looked the other way" in this case.

Something For Everyone

by Samuel Chandler

Tolstoy's classic novel "War and Peace" has been called the greatest novel ever written. It takes the reader inside the story and makes him acquainted with countless characters who are the flesh and blood people of Russia. The reader joins the Russian army and experiences the horrors of the Napoleonic Wars. Sometimes he lives with the opulent and sometimes indolent rich; other times with the serfs and still others with the outcasts of all Russian societies. It is literary realism at its peak.

Realistic fiction employs a simple, clear, direct style. It strives for objectivity. It seeks, wrote Henry James, to explore the inner selves of characters confronted with ethical choices. Often realistic fiction is satirical; often it is a comedy and is filled with the little things of life itself. The scenes and plots of most mooks of realistic fiction are drawn from middle class life and from bourgeois customs and manners.

Realism seems to be the favorite style of contemporary American writers. Faulkner, Caldwell, Dos Passos, Agee, Warren, Marquand, Michener, Hersey, Miller, Williams, O'Hara, Fisher are among today's authors who use realism to tell their stories.

The first realist in American fiction were followers of William Dean Howells. They painted pictures of the frustrations known by the over protected girls of the mid-victorian period of history. They were quickly followed by some of the most widely read American novelists: Mark Twain, Henry James, Stephen Crane, Theodore Dreiser, Frank Norris, Upton Sinclair, Earnest Hemingway.

Food For Thought

By the Daly City Ministerial Association

Isaiah 6 is one of the Bible's classic passages descriptive of an individual's mystical religious experience.

The characteristic features of such experience are all present. The vision occurs at a sacred place, the Jerusalem temple. There is a theophany, or manifestation of the deity, who is both seen (vs. 1) and heard (vs. 8) by Isaiah. Isaiah reacts to the experience with the characteristic emotion of awe or fear (vs. 5). The outcome of the experience is a commission to ethico-religious service on the part of the prophet (vs. 8f). The steps of progress in Isaiah's vision are typical of the essential steps in the development of religion itself.

AWE

The most elemental stage of religion is that of wondering appreciation, in which man stands in silent admiration before some awe-inspiring manifestation of the universe. Vss. 1-3 represent this phase of religion.

The second stage of religion is that of fear and distress and arises when some crisis threatens the values of life, and God becomes not an object of wonder and admiration but an obstacle to be feared. This is the religion of passive dependence before an obstacle which threatens destruction. Vss. 4 and 5 vividly portray this phase of religious experience.

SAVIOR

The third stage of religion is that of redemption, in which God is the savior of man. Vss. 6 and 7 most beautifully portray the Holy God taking the initiative in sending the Seraphim to forgive and save Isaiah. To such divine grace the noblest type of response is not ritual performance but voluntary consecration of self to the active service of God. In all the ages since Isaiah, vs. has been upon the lips of those who, having passed through some profoundly moving religious experience, dedicate their lives to spiritual service. "Then said I, Here am I: send me."

CHRISTIAN TASK

In these momentous times in which we live, it is so vitally necessary that our religion brings us to a position of daily consecration in the task of Christian service. It has no hands but ours, no feet to spread the gospel of peace but ours, no lips to speak of His love but ours.

So many today cloak hypocrisy with a calendar by setting aside only a few days out of the years to be spiritual. But true religion demands that our lives be a 'living sacrifice' which, after all, is the only Christianity that has timely and eternal value.

San Francisco Churches Plan Annual Easter Sunrise Service

Alarm clocks will be set for unusually early hours next Sunday morning as San Francisco churches make preparations to attend the 40th annual Easter Sunrise Service on Mount Davidson, held under the auspices of the San Francisco Council of Churches.

They will ride the Muni or drive to the trails leading up the mountain. On their hikes they will pass wild flowers in bloom, tall grasses and ferns and smell the damp Eucalyptus. At the top they will see the huge granite Cross.

At 5:25 a.m., just as the sun comes over the horizon, a trumpet fanfare will announce the dawning of Easter morn.

The sermon will be delivered by the Very Rev. C. Julian Bartlett, president of the San Francisco Council of Churches and Dean of Grace Cathedral. Other participants include The Rev. Dr. Gilbert F. Close, Portalhurst Presbyterian Church the Rev. Magnus Berglund, Temple Baptist Church; the Rev. H. Norman Roddick, Seventh Avenue Presbyterian Church; the Rev. Henry Rozen-dal, Miraloma Reformed Church and the Rev. Alzia Bowser, Ridgepoint Methodist Church.

Easter music will be provided by the Swedenborgian Choristers of the Church of the New Jerusalem, under the direction of Jane Sugden.

The entire service will be broadcast live over radio station KGO, 810 k.c.

Extra buses and streetcars will be run that morning. Telephone FIllmore 6-5656 for transportation.

Nine presidents of the United States, including George Washington and Abraham Lincoln, did not go to college.

Empire Theatre Noon-Hour Service Planned

A special noon-hour service will be conducted for the entire community in the Empire Theatre on Good Friday from 12:30 to 1:30.

While this service has been arranged primarily for the convenience of those who are free to worship over the noon hour, it also holds a special significance for the members and friends of West Portal Lutheran Church who planned it. It was in the Empire Theatre just eighteen years ago that West Portal Lutheran, now the largest Lutheran congregation in northern California, had its first beginnings.

The members of the congregation gather each Good Friday at this noon-hour service humbly to give thanks to the Lord for its God-blessed growth, and rededicate themselves anew to the same task which motivated its establishment, that of bringing the Christ-centered Gospel to others in the community and elsewhere.

The Rev. Ihno A. Janssen, Jr., who has been the pastor since the untimely death of the church's founder three years ago, will preach the sermon at the Good Friday service on the topic, "Cross-crowned Calvary." Serving with him will be the Rev. Tobias Buehner, assistant to the pastor at West Portal Lutheran. The elementary and junior high choirs of West Portal Lutheran School will present several choral selections before and during the service which begins at 12:30 Mr. Vern Liemann will direct the music in the service.

Through the cooperation of Mr. Harvey Anderson, manager of the Empire Theatre, and Mr. Walter Torgler, Chairman of the Board of Trustees at West Portal, several decorative features will add a dramatic appeal to this theatre service.

All those present will receive an attendance card which may

National Library Week

A View From Within The Library

Westmoor High School seniors Frank Grimm (right) and Leslie Kasper study art exhibit in library.

At the invitation of the Mayor and the Library Commission, hundreds of residents of Daly City used the National Library Week—April 8-14—to visit the Public Libraries of Daly City.

There they have found a variety of pleasures including the latest magazines and newspapers, recordings of musical masterpieces and how-to-do-it books, best sellers, maps, paintings, dictionaries and encyclopedias, and growing collections of books on pertinent subjects.

One man reported that he learned how to construct retaining walls around his home. Another borrowed a book that told him how to reline the brakes on his car. A lady borrowed cook books and each evening treated her family to a new dish. Another prepared a Sunday dinner with her eye on a book giving the recipes of the favorite dish of movie stars and other celebrities. When her husband asked "What's the occasion?" she replied, "We're honoring National Library Week."

Perhaps the highlight of the week was the Friends of the Library Reception on Sunday April 8. The special guest was Mark Harris, playwright and novelist. Over a hundred citizens of Daly City shook hands with Mr. Harris and heard his comments about contemporary subjects such as literature, TV shows, movies. Lenore Brewer, president of the Friends of the Library was hostess at the reception. Mayor St. Clair and City Councilmen greeted guests.

One of the features that elicited the comment of visitors was the display of paintings by Louise Brimhall Hansen. This collection includes twenty-eight paintings in various styles each adopted by Hansen to portray the scene before her.

The children of Daly City have used National Library Week to become acquainted with the heroes and heroines of the book world. Among the books that have captured their interest are the fairy tales. Thus Cinderella, Snowwhite, Thumbelina, Gluck, Reynard the Fox, and hundreds of others have led young readers into a world of fantasy and pleasure.

National Library Week is observed in 5000 communities in the United States. In 1962 it was featured by the biggest shows on TV and in most major periodicals and newspapers. In California its sponsors included Governor Brown and author, Irving Stone.

Books are checked out by Mrs. Roberta Drye and Mrs. Durand Marcus.

Easter Seal Fund Contributions Urged

Citizens of San Mateo County were urged to speed up their return of contributions to the Easter Seal fund so that the Rehabilitation and Research Center serving the crippled children and adults of San Mateo County can maintain operating expenses.

The appeal was made by Judge J. A. Branson, chairman of the 1962 Easter Seal sale, who announced that the drive now totals $24,657.77 coming from 11,847 families. Goal is $50,000 which is the minimum amount needed to provide services and therapy available to the 14,301 handicapped persons in San Mateo County.

"We mailed out 129,000 sets of Easter Seals to the families of San Mateo County and have heard from less than 10% of the homes," Judge Branson declared, "which is disappointing when you consider the fact that San Mateo County has one of the highest per capita income records in the State and the nation."

"You need only send $1, $2, or more if you can afford it, but a widespread response will enable us to carry on this outstanding work that is showing such remarkable results in San Mateo County," Branson urged.

The Rehabilitation Center, which is in daily operation and open to the public without regard for race, color or ability to pay, provides work therapy, speech and hearing therapy and physical therapy for handicapped persons.

One of the outstanding success stories of the Center is the fine work that has been done with stroke victims who through the coordinated therapy program provided again learn to use affected muscles and return to normalcy is much more rapid than otherwise.

Area leaders in the Easter Seal Campaign are: In Daly City: Art Colvin, Jack A. Hurt, Alfred O. Belotz, Edward D. Morgan, and Lee W. Brillhart; In Pacifica: Julian D. Cohn and Dr. J. C. Miles; and in El Granada, Si Moyer.

Serra Vista PTA Schedules Mardi Gras For May 5th

Serra Vista PTA Ways and Means Chairman Mrs. Svedise reports that the Spring Mardi Gras scheduled for May 5 from 3 to 8 p.m. in the all purpose room of the school is well under way. Mardi Gras decor will welcome all to a festive and fun packed afternoon and evening.

Mrs. Jack Ervin, refreshment chairman announces that there will be hot dogs, ice cream, soda and coffee available during the event.

Ticket chairman, Mrs. Paul Terry and her assistants will sell on Friday May 4 at the school during the lunch period. Tickets may also be purchased at the door.

Mrs. Clifford Forslund, apron chairman and Mrs. Wm. Funderburk, plant chairman have asked the youngsters to remember Mothers Day with a festive apron or house plant. There will be all sizes and styles of aprons as well as African violets and other plants for the youngsters to purchase for Mom.

Mrs. James Berryessa, white elephant chairman, has collected many novel and useful items for her table. This table will be run as a game. Ring the bottle and choose anything you wish from the table.

The youngsters will be delighted with our Louisiana Fish Fry. Mrs. Val Zara, chairman says get the ping pong ball into the fish bowl and you can take home a gold fish.

For those that like grab bags there will be a Parcel Post Tree with unopened packages from all over the country. Mrs. James Gillespie, chairman will sell each package for 35c.

All guests be sure to watch the bulletin board. There will be a lucky number posted every hour. Come early and stay late. Everyone is cordially invited to attend and help us make this event a huge success. Proceeds from this affair will be used to purchase some much needed equipment for the Serra Vista School.

Installation Held By Jeff High PTA

Mrs. Anne Eason, school board trustee and a recent national honorary life member, was the installing officer for new officers of the Jefferson High School PTA last Thursday night.

This year's ceremony was in the form of a wheel. Mrs. Mendel Plinsky, who was re-elected president, was called the hub—the part that holds the wheel together. The other members were spokes of the wheel that worked together to make perfect harmony.

H. R. Carter of the Argonaut Insurance Co. was the featured speaker of the evening. His topic was on "Safety First" in the home. There are many booby traps in a home and these should be carefully checked in order to prevent accidents.

In an interesting and informative colored movie, Mr. Carter showed the audience the way mouth-to-mouth resuscitation is performed. This can be a life-saving technique.

Among other business, it was voted by the PTA that Mrs. A. Liberato, Vice president, be sent as a delegate to the State PTA Convention in San Francisco May 9-11.

Historian, Don Leshner, made his report for the year. Cake and coffee was served at the close of the program.

BUNNIES FOR THE BUNNIES... Alec Land, President of the Alec Membership Shopping Center in Colma, prepares for the Alec Easter Party to be held at the Center, on Saturday, April 21, by loading up a pair of pert "girl rabbits" with Bunny dolls from the Alec toy department. The girls will

Scientists To Study X-rays Of The Stars

PALO ALTO — Scientists will take their first careful look next summer at a different kind of light from the stars. The new look at the heavens could lead to a better understanding of the nature of the universe.

Observations will be made in space from Aerobee rockets launched by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration at Wallops Island, Va. The experiments were planned by physicists at Lockheed Missiles & Space Co. labs here. They will study soft X-rays, a part of the light spectrum just below the ultra-violet in wave length.

This kind of observation can be made only from space because soft X-ray light from the stars is blocked out by the atmosphere and cannot be "seen" on earth. The planned experiments are the first detailed study of soft X-radiation from the heavens.

Light Radiation

Just what are soft X-rays?

They are invisible, but a form of light radiation, and like the similar ultra-violet, they can give you a nasty "starburn" even on brief exposure.

They have far less penetrating power than the "hard" X-rays used to photograph a broken arm bone. In fact, they can be stopped by an ordinary piece of paper.

Specifically, the space observations should tell some new things about "hot spots" which may exist in the heavens. They may give some entirely new ideas on the kind and character of the stars in the sky, and this in turn may show some new things about the contents of the universe.

The coming experiments are being sponsored by the National Aeronautics and Space Agency. Lockheed scientists will put new types of astronomical instruments aboard the rockets, and NASA will shoot them into space and record instrument observations as they are radioed back to the ground.

Star's Hot Parts

"Soft" X-rays, those between 100 volts and 16,000 volts are sent out from very hot parts of stars, from very hot stars, or other objects. For example, it is known from rocket and satellite observations that the super-hot corona of the sun (2,000,000 degrees Fahrenheit) emits soft X-rays.

"Presumably, the sun is not the only star to possess a corona," comments Dr. Philip C. Fisher, scientist in charge of the project at Lockheed Missiles & Space Co. labs here. "So we may be able to see similar radiations from other stars."

The X-ray detectors should report on turbulent regions, which by nature are very hot, or possibly a new class of stars, which might emit much of their energy in the form of X-rays. Initial attempts may detect several of the red supergiant stars, which though "cool inside" may well have very hot coronas. Ultimately, experiments should be carried aboard satellites to measure the quantity distribution of elements which emit soft X-rays, Fisher says.

Signal Back To Earth

"You could say that we can't lose," Fisher adds. "Even if we don't see anything, it will tend to show that the hot outer parts of stars we had expected to find may not be there. At the very least, the astronomical shots should set a lower limit on the amounts of X-ray radiation present for astronomers to observe. Massachusetts Institute of Technology and NASA have recently attempted to observe from Explorer XI gamma rays, which are similar to but much more energetic than X-rays."

Photon counters for the observations are now being built by Lockheed's physics organization, and prototypes of the counters have already been tested.

THE EASTER RABBIT, OR RABBITS, came early this year for Patrick and Michael Wellman of 212 Dundee Street, South San Francisco. Here, the

Plate Glass Door Kills Boy

Ten-year-old Charles P. Chervellera of 282 First Avenue, Daly City was killed Sunday, April 15 when he ran into a plate glass door in his home, smashed it and was speared in the side by a large sliver of glass.

The boy died of internal bleeding at 1 p.m., two hours after the accident. Deputy Coroner Robert Cole said the boy's father, Samuel Chervellera, had recently installed sliding doors of quarter-inch plate glass at the rear of the house.

The boy did not realize the door was closed, and ran headlong into it on his way into the back yard. He was taken to Junipero Serra Hospital in Colma. Attempts to revive him failed.

Rough And Ready Reliabies Are Gardeners' Summer Delight

In a land of long summer drought, plants and shrubs that seldom get thirsty can come in mighty handy. Lazy gardeners and those with estate-size gardens should pay close attention to planting some of our rough and ready reliables.

If you are one of those who thinks that beauty and drought resistance are incompatible, then the California Association of Nurserymen has news for you. There are many proven tough guys with all the good garden looks of plant world prima donnas.

Our native Wild Lilacs, for example, maintain their glossy green looks in spite of summer drought. They actually resent too much water and revel in stinky, unimproved soils. You can use Wild Lilacs widely: The prostrate Point Reyes Ceanothus and Carmel Creeper are excellent ground covers on a neglected hillside; the lovely look-alikes, Mountain Haze and Sierra Blue make compact evergreen, ever-beautiful shrubs. Ceanothus' blue flowers are as lovely as the California spring.

Drought resistant shrubs are often un-usual shrubs, too. The Red Bottle Brush is structurally intriguing for the summer-dry garden, rigid, unbending and completely individual. The blooms look like nothing if not like a red bottle brush.

The little-known, but highly attractive Hopsed Bush is another of unusual qualities, having all the airy grace of a young willow, the foliage color of a purple plum and the drought resistance of a native. Hopsed Bush is just coming into its own as a decorative horticultural specimen and definitely deserves a place in your garden. Use it as a 10 to 12 foot background shrub and for spot color.

The tortuous Australia Tea Tree also accents the unusual and makes a strikingly contorted screen plant for rear borders. The prostrate Santa Barbara Rosemary covers the most neglected of hills with good green foliage the year round, clear blue flowers in spring. And the rugged Rock-roses can be used to freshen up a dusty, dry drive or to cover a hillside with bloom in mid-spring.

Botanically these shrubs are: Point Reyes Ceanothus (Ceanothus gloriosus); Carmel Creeper (Ceanothus griseus horizontalis); Mountain Haze Ceanothus (Ceanothus cyaneus Mountain Haze); Sierra Blue Ceanothus (Ceanothus cyaneus Sierra Blue); Bottle Brush (Callistemon lanceolatus); Hopsed Bush (Dodonea viscosa purpurea); Australian Tea Tree (Leptospermum laevigatum); Santa Barbara Rosemary (Rosmarinus forsteri); Rockrose (Cistus).

Westmoor Students Guests At University Day Events April 28

Students from Westmoor High will be guests of the Associated Students on "University Day" at the University of California in Berkeley, on April 28. University Day is held to give high school students a glimpse of college life. This year, because of the past success of University Day, many junior colleges have been invited to attend.

Following registration, coffee and donuts will be served, and the visiting students will begin their day with a welcome from Chancellor Edward W. Strong and Associated Students President Brian Van Camp. After the welcoming addresses, Cal students will lead tours through different academic departments where the "new students" will become acquainted with the academic side of university life.

Later in the morning, to give the students a chance to address questions about the many aspects of college life, groups will be broken into sections where each student can discuss any questions he may have about Cal.

After lunch in Faculty Glade, the Oski Dolls, the University hostesses, and other campus representative groups will lead tours around the University campus.

To conclude the University Day activities, at 3 p.m., the guests will again meet in the Pauley Ballroom of the Student Union for a program filled with music, skits, and other entertainment depicting college life at Cal.

Navy Vet Killed In Trailer Fire

Fire swept the interior of house trailer no. 18 at Golden Gate Trailer Court, 7301 Mission Thursday morning, April 12 in Daly City, killing its inhabitant, 61-year-old Stanley Andrew Haroldson.

The fire was discovered about 7 a.m., by Laura Springer of trailer 23. She ran to manager H. W. Barrich, 66, who opened the door and dragged Haroldson out.

Daly City fire and police departments tried to revive the victim through resuscitation, to no avail. He was dead on arrival at Junipero Serra Hospital. Police said Haroldson was a former Navy veteran. The fire apparently started in a waste paper basket near the victim's stove and spread to the bed where Haroldson lay sleeping.

Two Westmoor Lads Named To Boys' State

"To educate our youth in the duties, rights, and responsibilities of American Citizenship." This is the motto of Boys' State where Tito Torres and Jack Petranner will represent Westmoor High School this summer.

Because both boys, juniors at WHS, have excellent scholastic records and possess the ability to lead in their school and community, they will be sent to the state capital during the week of June 16 to participate in this program of practical Americanism. Sponsoring these boys are the American Legion units from Broadmoor, and the Sunset district of San Francisco.

Upon arrival at Boys' State, Jack and Tito will be assigned to a city area along with 35 to 40 other boys. A group made up of several "cities" constitute a county which in turn is linked with other counties to form a state. Another feature of Boys' State is the separation of the boys into political parties, Federalists and Whigs. This gives the boys a chance to see for themselves just how political parties operate.

Purpose of Boys' State is thus attained: to let members learn by doing. From this practical experience each person can play a part under U. S. system or government. He can run for office, vote for the candidate of his choice, and have a voice and a part in shaping the policies of his government.

Myriad Sizes, Shapes And Colors Make Petunias A Prime Favorite

The myriad sizes, shapes and colors of the Petunia makes it one of the truly outstanding annuals for our summer gardens. We use it for massed color in beds, for bright spots in the border, for showy edgings and for graceful cascades of bloom from plant boxes and other containers. Such versatility is unmatched by any other bedding plant.

Gardeners who plant Petunias this spring will find, as usual, that the professional plantmen have come up with their annual crop of new and exciting varieties. It is one of the seven wonders that one plant can produce so many new faces year after year.

Topping the list for 1962 are the new Can Can strain of California Giants. These produce the typically ruffled, outsize bloms of the type on compact little plants. Sold in mixed colors only, these mighty dwarfs put forth blooms that are often 5 to 6 inches across, according to the California Association of Nurserymen.

Also new are three single multiflora petunias and a striking double multiflora. The three former include Dawn Satin, a light salmon pink, Brass Band, an unusual yellow, and Plum Dandy, an iridescent purple. The double multiflora is Cherry Tart, which produces lovely rose and white flowers on a compact plant.

The gardener should not confine his attention only to the new introductions, however, for the cream of last year's crop and top performers from earlier years have been brought back by popular demand. The medium sized and beautifully fringed grandiflora petunias are well represented by such proven performers as the Ballet Improved strain, by the striped, red and white Calypso, by Blue Lustre, by the white La Paloma and many others. Returning multifloras include the outstanding, pink and red Sugar Plum, the beautiful Coral Satin, the mixed Pow Wow strain and others.

Petunias have the reputation of doing well whatever kind of care they get. This is true to an extent, but don't try them too far, for their beauty is always enhanced by a little attention. Give them a good rich soil, plenty of water and enough pinching to encourage bushy growth. They will give you that much more in the matter of bloom.

SPIRIT DAY at Jefferson High School April 12 caught the students in a gay mood and with warm, balmy weather to boot. Girls in mums, and fellows in short pants and crazy hats played up the fact that this is one day the students could let loose a little steam before reporting to homeroom for their report cards. Cheerleaders, drum majorettes performed along with the school dance combo and Sam Ennon did the "Twist" to highlight the morning's festivities.

Sometimes it pays to be hardboiled

There are certain things you don't want to take chances with. Your savings, for instance. You want to know they're safe. That when you go to get them, they'll be there—the full amount, with interest. And you want to know that—no matter what—someone's being pretty hardboiled about protecting them. Like a bank.

THE MOST POWERFUL VOICE IN NORTHERN CALIFORNIA

the winner's circle

By GARRY NIVER

We see where the California Fish and Game department has adopted some of the methods propagated by the U. S. State Department. Mainly that of spreading goodwill to Latin American countries. Unlike the state department, the DFG is going about the matter in a different way. Instead of making friends and influencing people through monetary gifts, the DFG is handing over rainbow trout eggs—which is rather a unique approach.

Last Saturday 100,000 of the California rainbow trout eggs left Los Angeles bound for Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. Accompanying the precious cargo to Rio was William Ripley, believe it or not, who is assistant chief of Marine Resources for the game department. He took his vacation time to play mother to the eggs enroute to the Brazilian hatchery.

The reason for the gesture is that California hopes to help Brazil introduce both trout and salmon as a recreation benefit of the Brazilians. The long range plan of the move is that trout hatcheries can be established to supply the Brazilian people with a new protein food.

We can't help but think of the international furor which might evolve from this goodwill gesture. The Latin American countries have long been known for their left-wing revolutionists and this would be the perfect issue for them to capitalize on.

We can vision such an action now. It is a balmy day in Moscow. The Soviet Department of Fish and Game has found out that the Brazilians have received trout eggs from the U. S.

Immediately a notice goes out to the United Nations charging the United States with trying to brainwash the Brazilians through the subtle influence of trout eggs. The United States is charged with promoting imperialism in Latin American countries. The fish eggs, which originally were supposed to be couriers of goodwill suddenly turn into symbols of capitalistic greed.

"They will try to sell you fish food at outrageous prices," the Russians warn the Brazilians. Another rumor spreads that Ocean City is going to build a rod and reel plant near Sao Paulo.

"American Caviar to Brazilian Workers," scream Moscow Headlines. "Capitalists Export Unwanted Fish Eggs; Pigeons Are Next," blares Peeping papers.

In Brazil the Soviet Embassy gets an ultimatum from Moscow which prohibits them from buying any more sea-food at the local fish market. The image of fish changes from being a nice, passive protein food to that of killer shark bent on exploiting money from the poor Brazilian natives.

But the campaign to distort the image of fish in Latin America fails. The Brazilian accept the trout eggs in good faith. Now there is only one thing left for the Soviets to do.

The Russians decide to fight fire with fire. Steam- ing its way towards Rio is a sleek Russian liner. In the holds of the ship are vats containing Red Herring eggs. So the story ends quite well. The Russians are happy; the United States is happy; The California DFG is happy; and most of all, the Brazilians are really happy. It could happen that way, moving West.

LUCKE LEADS RAMS PAST JEFFERSON

It was "Lucke" Friday the 13th for the Westmoor Rams as they registered a 60½-52½ victory over arch cross-town rival Jefferson.

Coach Bob Lualaba's Indian charges put up a bitter fight before losing the varsity encounter 60½-52½ on the Ram's oval.

It was a warm day which saw eight dual meet records shattered by the two teams—seven of them by Westmoor. The Indians came back into the lower events, winning the class B's 74-39 and the C's 60-26.

The luck which the Rams possessed came in the form of veteran Jim Lucke. The all-around sports star at Westmoor scored two vital wins and a second place for the Rams.

Lucke inscribed his name on the record book twice. He took the 120 high hurdles with a time of 15.9 and cleared the bar in the high-jump at 6¼ for another meet record. He came in behind Jeff's Sammy Ennon in the low hurdles.

The Ram cause was also aided tremendously by Ray Pinelli, who also set two new dual meet records. Pinelli traversed the 100 in a scintillating 10.3 and eclipsed another record in the 220 with a 22.6 timing.

Dennis Chase of Westmoor set a new mark in the pole vault by clearing the bar at 13 feet.

In other record breaking feats Gary Allard tossed the shot 47-9 for the Rams. Jeff's lone record—smasher of the day was Rich Waller who heaved the discus 140-10.

St. Clair Tips-Off Naval Bowl Tourney

Mayor Robert St. Clair, fresh from his election victory rolled the first ball in the annual Twelfth Naval District Bowling Tournament which started at Westlake Bowl yesterday.

With almost 200 active duty Navy personnel on hand from Nevada, Utah and Northern California, the competition will end tomorrow with a buffet dinner and presentation of trophies in the banquet room of the Bowl.

RAMS ADVANCE IN SSF TOURNEY

The Westmoor Rams, whose baseball fortunes have been slipping somewhat to date, put forth a resurge in power to win their opening round of the South San Francisco invitational baseball tournament yesterday.

Coach Red Losberger's Rams severed the hopes of the San Mateo Bearcats, 5-1, before a sparse audience at Orange Park. The green and white flashes, who are the defending champs of the tourney, were given little chance by the experts to survive the first round.

Instead, they defied the prognosticators and advanced to the second round which begins today. Westmoor will draw either

St. Ignatius of San Francisco or Encinal of the East Bay in this afternoon's encounter, beginning at 3 p.m.

The victory carried a touch of irony as last Friday the same identical Bearcats soundly tromped the Rams, 9-3. Yesterday it was a different story as the Daly City crew set down the highly regarded Bearcats with the authenticity of a champ.

Hero of the affair was a young freshman lad named Dave Williams. The bespectacled hurler mystified the Bearcats with a breaking curve-ball.

San Mateo batters touched Williams for only seven hits, and those were all scattered.

Losberger also gave a king sized portion of the credit to freshman catcher Nick Krnich.

San Mateo opened up the scoring in the first inning when the first batter, Bob Reed, smashed a double off of Williams. After getting the next two batters out, first baseman Bill Penny banged out a single, scoring Reed from second base.

The Rams came back in the second inning to cross the plate three times, which proved to be more than enough. Scott Shackelford opened up the frame by reaching first on an error. Next Krnich singled and Williams walked. Second baseman Al Contreras sent two runs scurrying for home on a sharp single to left. Williams was put out at the plate, making two outs.

But the Rams were not through. Centerfielder Gary Mendoza and shortstop Steve Funai both reached base via fielders choices. Third baseman Bruce Hix accounted for the final run of the inning when he doubled to left field to score Contreras. Mendoza was thrown out at the plate to end the inning.

From the second on it was almost all Westmoor. The Bearcats threatened once in the fifth with two on and nobody out, but Williams quickly quelled the rally.

The Rams got some insurance in the sixth when Williams, Contreras and Hix all drew passes to load up the bags. An error by the Bearcats allowed Williams and Contreras to score. It was Williams' second victory within a week. Last Thursday he beat Lincoln of San Francisco.

NEIL McNEVIN, former All-Cal star at Serra, put a kink in Jefferson's title hopes last Friday when he boomed out a home run to lead SSF to a 2-1 Peninsula League victory.

Rams Lose Third Game

Westmoor suffered its third loss of the young PL season last Friday when they succumbed to the heavy bats of San Mateo 9-3.

The Bearcats jumped into a quick 5-0 lead. The Rams threatened briefly in the fourth inning when they scored three times to narrow the score to 5-3. Third baseman Tom Hix had a perfect day at the plate for the Rams, with three for three, including two triples.

The Rams gathered seven hits, but could not put them together, with the exception of the fourth inning, Harry Brown was the losing pitcher.

Rockfish Tops Angling Catch

California party-boat skippers reported a catch of 3,500,000 fish during 1961. These are the figures from the tabulation of 1961 sportfishing reports by the Department of Fish and Game.

Rockfish topped the catch list with a total of 898,600, and bonito were second with 850,000 reported. This is the second best bonito year on record, although well below the all-time high of 1,200,000 set in 1960.

INDIANS TAKE REST; READY FOR VIKINGS

Coach Steve Mezzer's Jefferson Indians take a well deserved rest this week after finishing the first five games of the torrid Peninsula League race in a tie for third place.

Crowded on the third rung of the PL ladder with the Indians are South San Francisco and Aragon. The Jeffs next outing will be next Tuesday when they meet Mills in a league tussle at Marchbanks field.

The locals will need the rest if they expect to pull the rug out from under the front-running Vikings. Mills has found the PL to its liking to date, leading with a perfect 5-0 record.

If the Indians can get by Mills, their stock for the PL pennant would be given a tremendous boost. Much of the success of Tuesday's game will depend on the hard hitting clubs of Al Cacicado and Rich Reitz.

The Indians were a victim of circumstances last Friday when they fell to South City 2-1 in an eight-inning overtime session.

The Warrior's Jim Dombroski singled in the bottom of the eighth, advanced to third base, on Ed Booth's single and then stole home for the winning run. It was a heartbreaking loss for the Indian's Bob Miller as the control artist four hit ball.

The hosts broke out in front in the fourth inning when Warrior first sacker Neil McNevin caught one of the few bad pitches Miller threw all day, and powered it over the cone barriers.

Mezzer's troops came back in the fifth when Miller walked and was advanced to third on Mike Morton's lashing double. Second baseman Mike Roavi grounded to short and Miller came home on the fielder's choice.

It's SPARE TIME

at Westlake Bowl

By JIM GREALISH

This is Navy Week at Westlake as almost 200 bowlers establish a beachhead for the Annual Twelfth Naval District Tournament. Each bowler rolls six games each day on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday with the top four men and women qualifying for the Western Region Rolloffs in San Diego next month. The high caliber of the bowlers is reflected in the fact that the minimum entering average for men is 170. The competition starts at 1 p.m. each day.

Myrtle Grassel stole the show last Thursday afternoon with a tremendous 265 game in the Westlake Keglerettes League. When she broke her string of strikes after five all the girls thought she was through for the game, but after a spare, she started another string, finishing with a 4-10 split on her last ball.

In the 825 Scratch League, Gary Attel set a new league high game record with a big 276 effort on his way to a 622 series. Gary thus becomes a member of the Westlake 275 Club, having received the belt and buckle signifying membership in this select group. Gary's current average is 172.

Another record was broken Monday night as John Schmidt rolled games of 190-230 and 243 for a new high series in the 805 Scratch League of 672.

The Gold Coast Classic was off to a running start with a large opening squad last Saturday night. This is the largest prize tournament to be held at Westlake since its opening with over $15,000 guaranteed in the Grand Finals. There are 31 bowling centers competing in this ten week tournament.

This was certainly the week for the new league records as two were set Tuesday night. Frank Scarpino went to the top of the list in the Country Club Handicap with a 636 total on games of 224-213 and 199 while Lorene Beck set a new high in the Tuesday Ladies Handicap with games of 162-174 and 205 for a 541 total.

The summer program has a spot for every member of the family. With ladies leagues every morning and afternoon, a mixed league Monday evening and Wednesday at 11 a.m., and Junior leagues Tuesday and Saturday mornings, all ages are covered. In addition "Lean to Bowl" classes are scheduled for Juniors at 3:30 on Fridays and for adults Mondays at 9:30 a.m. and Saturdays at 1 p.m.

Fred Plowman and Al Ratto were two of the high rollers of the week with Fred shooting a 637 total on games of 203-204 and 230 to lead the Golden Gate Handicap while Al Ratto set the pace behind Gary Attel in the 825 Scratch League with 620 on games of 212-200 and 208.

Coach Dick Truesdell took time off from the highly successful Junior Easter Tournament which ends Saturday, to register a 604 series in the Ball and Chain Mixed Fives on games of 188-182 and 234. The Junior Tournament has brought entries from all parts of Northern California.

Social Directors Doris Cunningham and Pat Garcia report that the next event will be a "Bunny Hop" No-Tap Tournament followed by a dance and buffet on April 28. With 171 bowlers participating in the St. Patrick's Day party and having a wonderful time, the same pattern will be followed. With a total cost of $3 per person, the bowling winners in both the men's and ladies' divisions will receive vacations for two in Las Vegas. Advance reservations may be made with Rick or Primo.

Misracks Top Parkview 6-2

The Winston Manor Seals moved into sole possession of first place in the Tri-City Midget Baseball League Sunday with a 12-6 win over the San Bruno Merchants in a game played at San Bruno. The win put the Seals one-half game in front of the idle M&S Builders.

Other action saw Daly City's Misracks Sporting Goods down San Bruno's Parkview 6-2. Sun Valley dropped the PAL Sergeants by a 13-4 count at Orange Park. The PAL Detectives edged the Pal Officers 11-9 at Buri Buri Park.

Tom Owen scattered eight hits to lead Misracks to their victory over Parkview. With the score tied at 1-1 in the third inning, Misracks erupted for three big runs on a pair of walks, a double and a single to take command. Don Weiden and Jeff Becker paced the winner's 10-hit attack at the plate, while Steve Gudely led the defense.

MAYFAIR MARKETS WILL HOLD EASTER EGG HUNTS

It'll be field day for children all over California Saturday morning, April 21, beginning at 8:30 when Mayfair Markets open their doors for their annual Easter Egg Hunt.

All children up to and including the age of eight are eligible to participate. Over 2000 candy eggs will be hidden in the markets, along with scores of "secret" eggs which entitle the finder to claim a special prize.

In charge of the entire affair will be the largest "rabbit" in captivity, according to Ray Allen the market director. The rabbit will be on hand to direct operations and personally award prizes.

"The markets will be divided into two areas in order to give private hunting grounds to the kiddies under five, but any child is eligible to win a prize, regardless of age," explained Allen. The prizes will be won by children finding the "secret" eggs, and only the "rabbit" knows what distinguishes these from the regular eggs.

Although parents will not be permitted to accompany their children on the hunt, they are urged to escort them to and from the market to avoid any possibility of accident or straying.

The doors will be opened at 8:30 a.m. and the children will be given detailed instructions before the actual hunt commences. "In fairness to all" Allen added, "no bags or sacks will be permitted, and a maximum of 5 eggs per child will be the limit."

in the Easter Egg Hunt are located at: 6967 Mission Street, Daly City; 2350 Junipero Serra Boulevard, Daly City.

Change Needed In School Brd. Attitude

Some 5,000 school board members from all sections of the nation, including Joseph Lewkowitz of Daly City, met in St. Louis for the 22nd Annual Convention of the National School Boards Association.

Theme of this year's meeting was "Facing Challenges to the Public Schools" and speakers are slated to cover the full range of school problems from keeping abreast of the latest developments in teaching techniques and school design to finding adequate financial resources to pay the skyrocketing bills for modern education.

The convention opened with NSBA President Theodore C. Sargent of Swampscott, Mass., telling board members that we live in a world of "unusual change" marked by a sense of urgency. He suggested that board members become the task force to help bring about the public understanding necessary for this country to take the lead in adjusting to the scientific, social, and political revolutions of the age. Sargent listed six specific changes board members must be willing to make:

Change their attitudes—stop thinking of their schools as provincial pockets of learning and see them as part of a national fiber of education and understanding.

Change what they know—not discard all their old ideas, but learn more about what is going on in education.

Change the pace with which they inform the public. Not only should the people be told what's going on, it is the board's responsibility to involve them by the thousands in discussion and draw out their advice on what should be accomplished in the schools.

Change their goals so that opportunity becomes reality for every child. Board members should study the changed environment in which they're operating and formulate long-range plans that will accommodate the drastic changes that have been generated in our social order.
